

The State of Montana Centennial Farm and Ranch Program Application

Requirements for Consideration of Application

- Proof of continuous ownership by members of the same family beginning with the founder and concluding with the present owner spanning minimally 100 years. Proof of founding date, commonly through a deed, is necessary. Subsequent deeds are mandatory. The line of ownership from the first family member(s), that person or person you consider the founder(s), may be through spouses, children, brothers, sisters, nephews, nieces, or adopted children. You must prove the founding date.
- One current owner must be a Montana resident.
- Incomplete applications will not be considered.

Application Process

Applications will become part of Montana Historical Society Archives and will be available for public research use.

Answer questions as completely as possible. Submit only one application per farm or ranch.

Multiple owners of a single property shall designate a primary contact.

Notarization of completed applications is necessary prior to submittal to the Montana Historical Society.

Application fee is $60.00

Mail completed application, and supporting documentation, and application fee to the Montana Historical Society, 225 North Roberts Street, Helena, Montana 59620-1201. Review and processing will occur by the Montana Historical Society upon receipt of the application. A Montana Centennial Farm and Ranch Program certificate will be mailed to successful applicants and their farm or ranch listed on the Montana Centennial Farm and Ranch Program web-site.

In cases where separately owned farms have evolved from the founder's original acreage by family members and meet all other requirements of the program, each individual property may qualify as a Montana Centennial Farm or Ranch. Each owner must complete a separate application for her/his property.

Application Process-Additional Information

Additional documentation can include, but is not limited to, photographs, deeds, and newspaper articles. Copies of historical photographs (hardcopies or on CD) documenting the progression of the farm or ranch through time are welcome. Please submit copies of photographs, deeds or newspaper articles, not originals. The Montana Historical Society reserves the right to utilize any submitted photographs.

Section IV, "Summary List of Owners" allows entry of ownership information in table form.

Addresses or phone number of owners and exact locations of the farm or ranch will not be published.
